Value Based Purchasing and Quality Improvement

- Patty Scott, VP of Quality/Case/Risk Management, IASIS Healthcare
- 2010 - Thomson Reuters Healthcare Advantage Award in Overall Quality Performance, and in the Health and Clinical Performance category.
- 2011 - Thomson Reuters Healthcare Advantage Award in the Health and Clinical Performance category.
- Change is the new constant in today's healthcare landscape. Regulatory changes, reductions in payment for readmissions, documentation changes to demonstrate accountability, incentives linked to the patient experiences are just a few of the changes that providers are preparing for as the country plans to implement value-driven healthcare.

Getting Value from Meaningful Use

- Marc Probst, Chief Information Officer, Intermountain Healthcare.
- The Health Information Technology for Clinical Health (HITECH) provisions of American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 (ARRA) include financial incentives for providers to demonstrate meaningful use of certified EHR technology. In this session, Marc Probst will discuss the definitions, standards, and requirements for meaningful use; the timeline established by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services for meeting meaningful use requirements; and how healthcare systems can develop a road map to ensure value through the HITECH initiative.
